The Latest Finds

leather pom poms; and innocent ballet flats that get cheeky with studs for detailing. Accessories that have two sides – there's that punky, carefree side – the last vestiges of being a little girl – on one hand, and then that sophisticated and glamorous side of a future seductress on the other hand. Everything comes in pastel colors with candy pink that even makes its way into make-up and fragrances. Who could resist fingernails that shine in shades of light coral or resist purchasing a bottle of perfume that is as faceted and sparkling as a tourmaline? The new Lolita confidently marches toward her destiny. She's as cheeky as the Sue Lyon immortalized by Kubrick, but today she's much more accessorized! A.M.
